Who Should Attend

This programme is designed for participants who are:

- Directors (executive and non-executive) of listed and private corporations
- Family members and controlling shareholders of large family companies
- Directors of government and non-profit organisations
- Senior professionals from institutional investors
- Partners of professional firms who serve boards

Participants should have sufficient exposure to board matters to fully benefit from and contribute to a programme that involves role-play, simulations and exchanges with other participants. They must also demonstrate that they possess the credibility and competence required to assume board-level responsibilities.

Skillsfuture Study Award:

The International Directors Programme is supported by the SkillsFuture Study Award for Internationalisation. Singaporeans who are officially admitted to the INSEAD programme are eligible to apply for the Study Awards which entitle recipients a monetary grant of S$5,000. To learn more about the Awards, eligibility and application process, please contact Margy Fuller at INSEAD, margy.fuller@insead.edu.

From Those Who Have Attended

“ In addition to the theoretical frameworks and practical applications in class, the lifelong network that you build in such a “United Nations” class at INSEAD enriches your own access and further understanding of cultural contexts in managing companies and boards in various parts of the world. This is the best investment I have made in my being a Global Board Director. ”

Colin Low

President & CEO, Singapore Investment Development Corporation

“ The IDP was a great investment of my time. I would recommend it to those who aspire to be effective board directors in the ever challenging business environment where good corporate governance significantly impacts corporate longterm success. ”

Lionel Lim

International Director

“ A rigorous programme to engage fellow directors in diversified industries from Asia and Europe on board strategy, leadership, dynamics led by a world-class faculty who constantly “nudged” me from reflection to application. ”

Tan Chin Poh

Deputy President Director, PT Bank UOB Indonesia

“ The IDP both personally and professionally develops participants. And, it’s an incredibly enjoyable programme. Not only did it expand my knowledge and skill sets but I now have a wonderful network of collegiate companions across the globe. The faculty are thought leaders, the content is cutting-edge, consciousness-raising discourse and the programme has served to seriously maximise my professional capacity. ”

Robert Gordon

Director of Programmes, Board Accord

The Singapore Institute of Directors (SID) is the national association of company directors. It works closely with regulators and other stakeholders of the corporate ecosystem to uphold and enhance the highest standards of corporate governance and ethical conduct. SID supports the professional development of all directors (private, listed, international and non-profit) in their directorship journeys (aspiring and new directors to board chairmen). SID also provides thought leadership on corporate governance and directorship issues through research, publications, and the Singapore Corporate Awards.
